Authorised Law Reports

A series of reports which has been given official approval by the judiciary or government is known as an authorised or official series of reports. In each jurisdiction only one series is designated authorised.

Cases which enunciate a general principle or point of law are usually included in the authorised series of reports.

Unauthorised series of reports are produced more quickly and many are directed towards satisfying the needs of specialist practitioners. Unauthorised series of reports include many reports of cases which may be published later in an authorised series, however they also include reports which may only be of transient interest, or illustrate the application of authoritative cases.

Few series are mutually exclusive. Cases may appear in several series depending on editorial interest and assessment of the importance of the case. For example High Court decisions are reported in the Commonwealth Law Reports (CLR), Australian Law Reports (ALR) and Australian Law Journal Reports (ALJR). The ALR and ALJR are unauthorised series and the CLR authorised. A decision may be reported in all three series.

An authorised report should always be cited in preference to an unauthorised report, (Rules of the Supreme Court 1971 (WA) 0.34.5.9A)

The following is a list of authorised reports of various jurisdictions, the citation is given in bold eg, CLR. Except for reports marked with a “*” or “#” all the reports listed are held at Murdoch.

Remember, the general arrangement of law reports held in the library is by jurisdiction first (eg. Australia, Western Australia, New South Wales, United Kingdom, USA, Canada), and then alphabetically by title within the jurisdiction.

[*] - not held in WA

[#] - not held at UWA

[##] - held at the Supreme Court
